DETAILED ACTION

1. An examination of this application reveals that applicant is unfamiliar with patent prosecution procedure. While an inventor may prosecute the application, lack of skill in this field usually acts as a liability in affording the maximum protection for the invention disclosed. Applicant is advised to secure the services of a registered patent attorney or agent to prosecute the application, since the value of a patent is largely dependent upon skilled preparation and prosecution. The Office cannot aid in selecting an attorney or agent.

A listing of registered patent attorneys and agents is available on the USPTO Internet web site <http://www.uspto.gov> in the Site Index under "Attorney and Agent Roster." Applicants may also obtain a list of registered patent attorneys and agents located in their area by writing to the Mail Stop OED, Director of the U. S. Patent and Trademark Office, PO Box 1450, Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

2. Claims 1-7 are rejected as failing to define the invention in the manner required by 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.

The claim(s) are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure, which goes to make up the device, must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. The claim(s) must be in one sentence form only. Note the format of the claims in the patent(s) cited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-4,6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Araujo'133 (US Patent No.6, 783,133).

In regards to claims 1 and 2, Araujo discloses "a kit that allows for simple modification of a conventional bicycle for converting the bicycle into a self propelled snow bicycle without having to modify the conventional chain and rear wheel drive system" (see column 2, lines 1-20).

In regards to claims 3 and 4, Araujo discloses "a snow bicycle without changing or modifying the designed manufactured geometry of the bicycle (see column 3, lines 22-27), "no change is made in regards to the distance to the front axle to respect to the ground and where the distance would be the same regardless the front wheel or the ski shoe" (see figure 2, elements 40,68 and 70).

In regards to claim 6, Araujo discloses a "natural pivoting of the bicycle ski shoe during movement over rough or hilly snow covered terrain (see column 6, lines 1-20).

Art Unit: 3618

In regards to claim 7, Araujo discloses a natural pivot upward pivot of the bicycle ski shoe through the use of gravity allowing the front of the ski to point up (see column 5, lines 46-53).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Araujo'133 (US Patent No.6, 783,133) in view of Seiler'198 (US Patent No.3, 814,198).

Araujo discloses the ability for the user to change the front ski, but does not teach a front ski of different sizes, however Seiler teaches a wider ski through the use of a standard ski binding (see figure 1, element 93). It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide various sized skis on the device disclosed in Araujo as taught by the Seiler reference. This modification would be a mere design choice of one ski for another within the vehicle art. The motivation for using various sized skis would be to provide the proper ski for the different snow conditions (for example: a wide ski for deeper powder snow)

Art Unit: 3618
